History of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles

ON the colors of Britain's famous fighting regiments stands lists of proud battle names—Regimental Rolls of Glory.

From the first engagement where a regiment won its spurs to the latest bloody fight in this present titanic struggle, every name is a reminder of a tradition of courage and honor, established, unsullied, and forever to be maintained in war and peace.

In Canada, few have been the opportunities for the establishing of regimental traditions founded on war's campaigns.

Among the favored few, the 90th, Winnipeg's justly popular regiment, holds an honored place and an enviable record, earned in the stirring days of the rebellion of '85 and maintained through the long periods of peace that have followed it.

The 90th was officially organized on November 9th, 1883. An extract from General Orders of that date reads as follows:—

"90th Winnipeg Battalion of Rifles. The formation of a battalion of rifles, composed of six companies, is hereby authorized in the City of Winnipeg, to be designated the '90th Winnipeg Battalion of Rifles.'

"The Winnipeg Infantry Company is amalgamated with this battalion and its name is, in consequence, removed from the list of corps of the active militia.

"To be Lieutenant-Colonel—Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel William Nassau Kennedy, from the Winnipeg Field Battery.

"To be Major—Daniel Hunter McMillan, formerly Captain of No. 2 Company 35th Battalion.

"No. 1 Company—To be Captain, Lieutenant Christopher Fortescue Forrest, from Winnipeg Infantry Company; to be Lieutenant provisionally, Edwin Robert Rogers; to be 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Clutterbuck Vick.

"No. 2 Company—To be Captain, Henry Norlande Ruttan; Lieutenant, Charles Willoughby Henry Page; 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, George Wilson Stewart.

"No. 3 Company — To be Captain, Walter Alexander Wilkes; Lieutenant provisionally, Herbert Bolster; 2nd Lieutenant, William Elliott Macara.

"No. 4 Company—To be Captain provisionally, Arthur John Dalziel Blyth; Lieutenant provisionally, Charles Arthur Worsnop; 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Henry Mittleberger Arnold.

"No. 5 Company—To be Captain provisionally, William Murdoch; Lieutenant provisionally, Kenneth Nathaniel Logan McDonald; 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Norman Holland Murdock.

"No. 6 Company—To be Captain provisionally, William Clark; Lieutenant provisionally, William Wallace McMillan;

Sixteen months after its organization, the 90th was destined to play a conspicuously prominent part in the stirring days of the Northwest Rebellion. The interval had been well employed with frequent drills, and the opening of the campaign found the infant battalion in a fair state of readiness for active service.

On March 25th, 1885, a detachment of one hundred men under Major Boswell left Qu'Appelle Station, then generally known as Troy, N.W.T., the nearest point on the C.P.R. to Batoche and Prince Albert. On the 27th General Middleton reached Winnipeg and left with the remainder of the 90th for Qu'Appelle Station the same night.

Young in experience and personnel, the 90th Regiment yet performed a distinguished part and bore the brunt of the hard work of that campaign.

Its fighting powers were tested and proved at Fish Creek and Batoche, where the regiment paid dearly for its bravery.

Its endurance was thoroughly tried by severe climatic conditions. Between March 27th and July 15th it endured five days' fighting, marched 575 miles, travelled 1,000 miles by steamer and 325 miles by rail. Its discipline, cheerfulness and readiness to perform all and any duties laid upon it called forth the admiration of all who were in association or came in contact with it.

A volume could be written about the services of the 90th at Fish Creek and Batoche, but space forbids details. At Fish Creek especially, the action was most trying to the strength of the men, as they fought all day without food or drink, other than was taken at the morning meal about 5 a.m. Though young, the men stood the hardship well and bravely. As to the part played by the 90th in this very hard day's fighting the casualty list bears ample testimony, and besides this, there are the official reports and those of the newspaper correspondents, all of which do full justice to the fighting powers of the “Little Black Devils!”

The derivation of this sobriquet is very interesting. After the battle of Fish Creek in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, General Middleton was interrogating an Indian who was a prisoner. In the course of the conversation the General remarked, “Your people fought well.” “The police we know,” replied the warrior, “but those who bothered us were the ‘Little Black Devils.’”

The “Little Black Devils” were the men of the 90th Regiment whose black rifle uniforms had never before been seen by the Indians. Thereafter General Middleton always called the 90th by the name so aptly applied to them by the Indian, and the name stuck. In 1910 a general order was issued calling for collar badges to be chosen. The present badge, a “Little Black Devil,” with the Latin inscription, “Hosti Acie Nominati” (named by the enemy on the field of battle) was submitted to Colonel O'Grady.

LT.-COL. J. M. D. de C. O'GRADY
Took Command in March, 1911, and died November 3rd, 1914

This badge was adopted by him and became so popular that it has been used by the Overseas Battalions of the 90th Regiment. When he saw the 90th making a final rush on the rebel trenches at Batoche, it is said that General Middleton heartily coincided on the propriety of the term "L.B.D.'s."

On their return from the campaign, the 90th were accorded a most overwhelming civic reception. A municipal welcome was tendered to General Middleton and the troops in front of the City Hall, where a stately monument has since been erected to the memory of the heroic dead of the regiment by their admiring fellow citizens. In August, 1885, it was resolved by the officers and men to erect a regimental monument in St. John's churchyard to the memory of the officers and men who fell in the Northwest Rebellion. A committee was formed to raise funds and obtain suitable designs. The work was completed at the expense of the regiment in a satisfactory manner, and unveiled on November 18th, 1886.

Advantage was taken of the presence in the city of General Middleton, and the monument was dedicated and handed over to the custody of the Dean and Chapter of Rupert's Land.

In February, 1887, the battalion lost its popular commanding officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Mackland, the remains being accorded a full military funeral. Major Boswell assumed command as Lieutenant-Colonel, vice Lieutenant-Colonel Mackland. Lt.-Colonel Boswell held the command for nine years, and was succeeded in December 21st, 1895, by Lieutenant-Colonel H. N. Ruttan (new Colonel and D.O.C. M.D. No. 10). Colonel Ruttan was succeeded in the command of the regiment by Lieutenant-Colonel Chambre on December 21st, 1900.

Lieutenant-Colonel T. H. Billman succeeded to the command on December 21st, 1905, and on his relinquishing same in March, 1911, Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. De Courey O'Grady was appointed from the reserve of officers. His tenure of command witnessed the opening of the big summer camps at Sewell, and Colonel O'Grady was successful in parading a large proportion of the regiment for this annual training. An excellent marksman himself, he gave special attention to the training in musketry, and was the means of developing a particularly high standard of marksmanship in the regiment. A larger percentage of 90th shots were yearly in attendance at the D.R.A. matches at Ottawa than from any other corps in Canada, and the fame of the regiment extended also to the ranges at Bisley, where Colonel O'Grady commanded the Canadian team in 1913. August 4th, 1914, found the regiment in a high state of efficiency, and Colonel O'Grady's offer of a battalion was one of the first to be accepted for service by the Minister of Militia. After Colonel O'Grady's death in October, 1914, Lieutenant-Colonel Blanchard took command, and is the present commanding officer of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles.

February 1st, 1899, His Excellency the Right Honourable the Earl of Minto, G.C.M.G., the Governor-General of Canada, honored the 90th by accepting the the appointment of Honorary Colonel, a peculiarly happy selection in view of His Excellency's participation in the campaign of 1885 with the regiment, up to the first day of Batoche, as chief of staff to General Middleton.

The next event standing out conspicuously in the history of the 90th is the South African War, and the participation of contingents from the regiment therein. Colonel Ruttan offered the services of the whole battalion, but only one officer and some forty N.C.O.'s and men were accepted for service with the Special Service Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment Infantry. Major H. M. Arnold, who left in command of the detachment from Winnipeg, died February 23rd, 1900, of wounds received in action at Paardeberg. Among other officers of the 90th who took part in the war might be mentioned Capt. E. F. Mackie (now Lieutenant-Colonel, Stratheona Horse), Capt. T. L. Hartley and Lieuts. H. R. Page and J. H. Irvine. Most enthusiastic receptions were tendered the various contingents on their return to Winnipeg in December, 1900, and January, 1901.

The 90th has played a gallant part in the present war, as the casualty list of the 8th Battalion shows.

The regiment so far has raised three Overseas Battalions, the 2nd 90th O.S. Battalion (C.E.F.), and the 3rd 144th O.S. Battalion; the 90th under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Munroe, the 144th under Lieutenant-Colonel Morley. A fourth battalion has been authorized, called the 190th O.S. Battalion, to be recruited under the able direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Morley.
